HONGKONG, TUESDAY, MAY 4, 1880

In our remarks of yesterday we endes voured to show the inevitable tendence of the Governors line of action with regard to the establishment of the new post of Chinese Secretary, and the mannor in which that desire, if attained would affect the Colonial Secretary. is now pretty generally understood the Colonial Office authorities do not se this question in the same light as doe His Excellency. Apart from the depart mental reasons already given, the import ant point to be considered by the Score tary of State is, what permanent benefit i likely to be derived from this new office In the event of Sir John Henness being promoted to shother Colony, and his strongly marked Chinese appolivities going with him what would then be the specific duties of these Chinese Becretary The Colonial Chice must look at something more than the idiosympasies of a parsicular Covernor in the people bearing mente of the administration. Supposing for luntance till till tellered post on of Registrat Constat were again to hos Colony desired to be the little of the suggested in this connection, however, it is surprising how little we have heard of the approad original object of it all. Daylight - Brasmor Carde leaves for We mean the inauguration of an Interpreter-General's Department. The need of a thoroughly competent and experienced scholar of ability, well versed in at least two or three dialects of Chinese, was felt for this great work of reform. and a gentleman answering all there requirements was secured by the local Government. That officer's ospecity and fitness for this duty has been frequently tested in many ways, while the absolute necessity of some high-class and honest supervision or check of the interpretorial departments of the service was recognised on every hand. It is true that since the engagement of Mr Ball as interpreter in the Supreme Court, the smoothness with which that particular branch of interpretation has been carried on is most satisfactory. But the staff is necessarily a large one, and this redseming feature only serves the better to show the darkness of its surroundings. Mr Ball would make a most valuable assistant to the Interpreter General; but there can be no manner of doubt that the proper sphere for Dr. Kitel is that of head of the Interpreting Department, a position which has been again and again foreshadowed but which now seems to be more distant than ever from practical shape. It may be remembered that the reason why Dr. Kitel's temporary appointment at Government Translator was so favourably received by the Legislative Council and the community was because of the hope held out that his acknowledged abilities would be utilised in the manner we have stated. We do not for a moment doubt but that the intelligent assistance of a shrewd scholarly man like the sinologist referred to must be of no small importance in whatever capacity it may be rendered. But there can be no question as to the greater service he would render to the interests of this Government if his spergies were turned in the direction indicated—viz. that of reorganising and supervising the entire interpretation staff of the Colony. It may be assumed; and we believe we are right in asseming, that 8 p.m. - Occidental & Oriental 9, S. Co.'s | the ruling spirite of the Colonial Office look with favour upon the formation of this Department, Indeed, it is just possible that had not the idea of joining with it the other position of Chinese Secretary been persistently advanced by the Governor, the suggestion would have been carried out long ere now. The rearrangement of the Registrar General's Office may have retarded the development of this most desirable administrative reform; and it is to be hoped that, so soon as the new Liberal Cabinet has fairly soltled down to work, the details of the suggested obsuges are laid before Lord Kimberley, and the facts are fully explained, in writing by the Governor and verbally by Mr. Marsh, the Interpreter General's Office will speedily become a permanent and independent department, under the guidance of the present able scring Chinese Secretary.

> letter of 30th ulto., takes us to task in a most unexceptionable manner for having, as he alleges, done an injustice to Mr. Lincoln, U.S. Cousal at that port As there appears to be no doubt as to the existence of the contract referred to as having been made by Mr. Lancoln, our editorial censure applied specially to the State Department at Washington. The legality or otherwise of the U.S. Consul's action rests entirely upon the question whether or not he absolutely resigned his official position prior to his execution of the contract in London. This is so from the very nature of things, because. whatever arrangement may have previously been made by Consuls of other Foreign Powers at Canton, it was a manifest impossibility for the U.S. State Department to ratify or approve of a contract made in direct violation of a Statute of the United States. The acceptance by the Department of Mr. Lincoln's resignation and his resumption of office are not fully reconciled by our correspondent's letter. If the Consul resigned in order to carry out the contract, why was he permitted by Secretary Everts to resume his position? If, on the other hands Mr. Lincoln resigned from reasons of a relitical character having reference to Ceneral Grante election. Mr. Lincoln's return to China s still more incompréhensible, as the assistance he could render in Canton to the callant Presidential candidate is infinitesimally small. If ogain, Mr. Lincoln's resignation was accepted ! for ressons of a general character which were actuating similar changes of somewhat extended scope in China, Japan, '&c.'' then we are very much afraid that our correspondent's defence of Mr. Lincoln in not even so strong as ... it might have been made. Most of the recent changes have clearly been necessituted by the force of the public siemand for Civil Service Reform.

Our correspondent at Canton, in his petitions to that Department to be dealt was most probable resigned at the operations of the tarn the elecpetitions to that Japanement to be dealt with by a Chinese scholar the struction would be materially altered, such the Chinese Secretary's comparison supports therefore with The proposition which was appeared to the proposition which was appeared to the proposition of the first proposition of the first proposition which was appeared to the first proposition of the first proposition o Indian affaire is to be made the sport of party warfare at Lome" . that " Little to. flierce as some party lights in Rightad I have been, the line has been drawn at

True, he may prefer the change and will be an admirable Under Colonial Secretary; and as Lord Hartington is in the House of Commons, there would or will be a convenience in selecting the Under Secretary from among the aspirants to a post of that class in the House of Lords,-Lord Rosebery for instance : For, though lacking experience, he does not lack wit; and with so prudent a Vicercy as the Marquis of Ripon in India, the strain upon the London office will relax from the recent tension, enabling its incumbents to profit from the flood of light that the Merals "have been returned by large the controversy of the recent regime has majorities." The result of the home elections has taken us greatly by surprise. It is very curious that there should be such a preponderance of Liberals there, and such a wonderful scarcity here. You might rake the Colony over and hardly find a dozen. I suppose the secret of it must be that wealth always deprecates any change in Governments, while the poorer. classes, having little at stake, gladly welcome anything that offers a prospect of relief. They think a new deal may possibly shuffle them to the top. In this community the patrician element preponderates and dominates. Liberal sentiments find no home in this blueblooded region. There are too many rich men's sons here for that. We have acquired the peculiar colour and polish of the East. Our manners and accomplishments, as Dickens says, are fit to strike you dead.

Colonel James Pair, the Nevada Silver mine King, has just left us, en route for India and Europe. Our poor little capitalists, with their paltry four or five lakhs of dollars, are nothing to me now. The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desirable t and contributions of much interest may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Uhinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is now assiduously cultivated. and who are severally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors. In paper on Dr. Legge's She King, by the Rev. E. J. Eitel, to which the place of Pencil-cases, &c. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Queries" are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may evoke a similar degree of literary real to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its prede-cessor in the field, and that the Ohina Review may receive the support necessary to insure its continuance. The publication is intended to appear every two months, and will orm a substantial octavo magazine.
